The writer would most respectfully land, on their way to Cuba to see if the all your attention to the subjects in con-delightful climate of that sea-girt island delightful climate.

The writer would most respectfully call your attention to the subjects in connection with the vital interests and growing prosperity of our giant youing city, and submit for your caim reflections and consideration a few wholesome suggestions.

No doubt many if not all of your honorable body have frequently at times stood upon the bluff in front of our city, which commands a magnificent view of our noble river for many nulles above and below, and have not failed to note the buge, ungainly sandbar that mast the view and obstructs our navigation, which has been forming in front of our city for several years past, making out for miles along the Arkansas shore into the middle of the Mississippi river, and now becoming a perfect "eye sore" to every observer, and which certainly forbodes no good to our future prospects as a great commercial emporium; and has not the question involuntarily come on; Cannot something be speedily done to change the current of the river, so as to sweep the current of the river and the Cannot something be gone? and should not something be speedily done to change the current of the river, so as to sweep away this ngly obstruction? more particularly as the said obstruction forces the current over upon our shore with return the current of the current over upon our shore with return the current of the sistless fury, causing a corresponding enting away of the batture property, which has formed there many years since, and has now become to be a most valuable ddition to the city property. This en-by some means speedily at steed by some action on your part, must ultimately sweep away into the relentless current of the river our present most valuable navy yard property, together with its build-ings, that has been so generously donated to us by our general government, and with it, also, all that valuable property on the bottom south of it, with its valuable improvements. and dry, with maybe a dead lake similar to Horn lake, or, perhaps, eventually, a broad mud or sand har intervening between our enterprising city and the then Mississippi river, thus placing us in the sad predicament that Gen. Grant sought sad predicament that Och. Crant sought to place the city of Vicksburg some three and a half years since, during the rebellion and famous siege of that city. This is no idle conjecture, but such a freak as has been frequently played by the great and mighty but no less fickie tream that flows past our doors. And if such is the case, are we not, as it were, sleeping over a volcano ready, as it is, burst loose upon us at any moment? A word to the wise is sufficient." There is yet another important con-deration to be thought of in connection Within twelve months from this time our great Little Rock railroad (a link in the great Pacific railroad to California) will no doubt be completed to the opposite bank of the river, and we will want a clear, open river between our central landing and Hopefield, Art, direct, and free from any obstructions of any kind whatever, so as to make the break in the ine of road as short as possible without diverging up to the point above Memphis, or to Mound City.

Here also is destined in time to be the termination of the great Memphis and St. Louis railroad.
